

I would not fight with any other person then my wonderful ~~mom~~ ^{mother}. She will be right there with me always and I love it. I would not change one thing about her.

If you hear someone say they love you they don't mean it most of the time. My mom dose. She loves me nomatter what I do. She makes life joyfull and a pleasur. Sometimes she can't stand me but that is from loveing me so much. She would read me a story every night when I was little. For my birthday she dose the best things in the world. Sometimes my mom isn't a mom she is a friend. A friend that I can always count on. Plus she is a friend that will always support me. She dose not work for fun. She works to support my activities and my school supplies. The town needs to know who the best mom ever is and that is my mom.

Let's hope next time you stop and think that moms are important. Every mom is great. But my mom stands out. My mom loves me more then anything. She evens says and I quot. "I would die for you if it meant you could live." I sware that I was repeting her words. She takes me everywhere and she puts up with my attitude. I love my mom. But I hope you pick her for parent of the year. If she was your mom you would feel the same exsact way about her that I do. So open your eyes and see what a reall mom can do my mom can do it.
